FROM THE PRESIDENT by John DuBay

Who would have thought a woodworker in a small rural town in Finland, who had an idea how to improve something we woodworkers take for granted, would become a manufacturer known world-wide for producing high quality sandpaper. This example, narrated at the last meeting, illustrates how ideas to improve the every day things in our life can have important consequences.

The Guild, too, is changing, not with the aim of becoming as widely known as Mirka, but to become the kind of organization its members want, as they requested in the 2004 membership survey. It showed the two most popular reasons for joining the Guild are: first, the opportunities to network with other woodworkers, and second, to become more knowledgeable and skilled through the Guild's educational programs. The Board got the message and is now on a course to accommodate those reasons when it adopted them as a priority for Guild operations.

Networking, as I see it, means getting together with other woodworkers to learn from each other about the craft of woodworking, person to person and not from the cold printed page. What's the best wood to use? Where can I get it? What's the best technique and how can I learn it? What's the best way to design a chair or a French highboy? Who should I talk to about varnish or polyurethane? Can I make money from my work, and how? Who's skillful and willing to share? These are just a few of the questions we all ask.

One of the Guild's top priorities will be to facilitate the personal interaction between members to provide the answers we all look for.

Improving the Guild's educational programs will continue advances made in recent years. This year the seminar program offers more seminars than ever, thirteen over a seven month period. The experience and qualifications of the instructors is top rate. The Beginning Woodworking classes have proved very popular for both young and old aspirants. The mentoring program will receive the increased attention it deserves. Talk to anyone who participated, as a mentor or a protégé, and you'll quickly recognize the value of this program.

Setting these priorities is a necessary first step. To implement them requires thoughtful planning and possible organizational changes to accommodate new programs, and, most importantly, volunteers to carry out the many responsibilities inherent in an active and vibrant organization. After all, working with other volunteers is the best networking opportunity of all. Try it. You'll see.

MEETING MINUTES:

President John DuBay called the meeting to order at 5pm. The board approved the minutes of the previous meeting as circulated. Discussion about upcoming meetings included rescheduling to May the Guild meeting at Bridge City Tools. The President reported on the continuing need for storage space for Guild shoji screens and other items. Other ideas under discussion included a meeting for our professional members only to consider changing the Guild to better meet their needs. Committee reports included an update on Dean and George's Beginning Woodworking school and an update on the Guild's seminars. Ed Ferguson's report on sponsorship elicited discussion regarding different levels of sponsorship. Ed reported the Guild picked up one new sponsor, The Tool Peddler. The board voted to change the newsletter mailing system, electing to email newsletters to those with email and only mail hard copies to those without email or with special circumstances. The board also voted to terminate the Guild's phone line as we get almost no calls on that line. Lee Johnson, the Scholarship Chair, announced a proposed change to the Guild's scholarship selection process from a competitive to a lottery process. Dean Mattson reported on suggested changes to the Guild as identified in the Guild's recent survey and outlined next steps to prioritize the changes. The board briefly discussed a proposal to cast votes online, to expedite business. No action was taken

GENERAL MEETING:

John DuBay called the meeting to order at 7pm. He mentioned the Guild is looking for storage for the shoji screens and other Guild items. Eric Snow briefly discussed upcoming seminars (see the newsletter for changes to the schedule.) John also announced changes to the newsletter. The Guild will be mailing hard copies only to those individuals without email or with special circumstances requiring a hard copy. The Guild is taking these steps because of the significant cost of producing and mailing hard copies. These funds could be used to provide other benefits to members. Next year, the Guild may consider charging a small fee, to recover cost only, to those members who still want the newsletter in hardcopy. John mentioned that he wanted ideas for more "Guild projects." He said that people who had worked on several past projects, such as the Guild workbench and shoji screens, had such a great time, they are still getting together socially. One idea in the works is to build boxes for the Guild's library collection.

Show and Tell: Eric Hayes brought a beautiful suggestion box he made for the Guild. A wonderful combination of the refined and rough wood. Andy Chidwick showed a prototype of a unique "storybook" rocking chair—truly a work of art! Lee Johnson showed off Silvia Filchak's carving- really fine work. Mickey Meredith brought some elegant twisted candlesticks, Eric Hayes showed off some more of his beautifully crafted hand tools, a skew and a knife with a snakewood handle. Bill Bolstad brought along a number of small pieces of burl for sale. Jim Knieling brought along a "re-crafted" piece. It was a shelf he created from another piece. Good work, Jim! Larry Lofdahl showed us part of an exquisite laminated stair rail he made.

Dean Mattson discussed results of the recent Guild survey and noted the Guild is beginning implementation of a number of the items. He will be contacting members who expressed interest in working on a variety of issues identified in the survey.

Steve Penberthy, of Woodcrafters, our host for the evening had a raffle for members. Nine Guild members walked away with a prize for the evening, including 2 new members! Thanks, Steve for another great meeting at Woodcrafters.

After all that excitement, Don Henderson, of Mirka Abrasives, gave us a great presentation that included just about everything you wanted to know about Mirka and their products. The abrasive screens Mirka produces were of particular interest to members, as they allow for almost 100% dust collection. It was a great presentation.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS!

The Guild would like to welcome the following new members: Ray Bonnes, Larry Butrick, Kenneth Emmons, Timothy Greenwood, Clyde Hastings, Joseph Huff, Patrick Huff, Ron Kincaid, Patrick Leonard, Doug Matthews, and John T. Sharp.

NEWSLETTER CONTRIBUTORS WANTED

Thank you to Lee Johnson, Tom McCann, Tom Whiteley, and George DuBois for volunteering to help with the newsletter columns!

Several of you have already accepted the challenge, but we're still looking for Guild members who would like to contribute to the "new" newsletter, which we're working on right now. We're giving the newsletter a whole new look. If you're interested in writing a few words and/or collecting information, we'd love to hear from you. Articles will be fairly short, around 200 words, which is only about 2-4 very short paragraphs. Some of the areas don't require writing, just information collection. For example, the upcoming events/calendar section just requires someone to collect that information each month and then turn it in to the newsletter editor. We would like to develop a pool of people so that assignments could be scheduled ahead of time and contributors would have assignments much less frequently.

We are anticipating columns on the following: feature article (we'll cover a wide variety of topics here), profile on a Guild volunteer, short article on upcoming meetings, profiles of Guild members, including profiles of our professional members, favorite woodworking web links (no article, just gather information), a column written by one of our sponsors, and safety tips. We also need a photographer willing to take on specific assignments for each newsletter; this would likely entail just a picture or two each month.

We're also looking for a name for the new newsletter. Send Christin Smith your ideas and/or volunteer to be a contributor. Contact her at fundingsolutionsnw@comcast.net or call 503-371-8886. Please also give us your input on specific columns/topics/information you'd like to see us cover in the newsletter.

We'd like to encourage members to submit their ideas. What would you like to tell your fellow members about? Do you have a special technique or supplier you want us to know about? If you're unsure of your writing skills, don't worry about it. We will also accept information over the phone or via email from our members that we can then turn into a short article. We'll work with you to schedule these articles ahead of time.

STUDENT SHOW

The Guild's board recently had a chance to review photos of work from last year's Student Show. The quality of the workmanship was simply outstanding. The Student Show is calling for entries for this year's show at the Oregon State Fair. The show runs from August 26th through September 6th and is open to all Oregon students of at least middle school age. Help us get the word out! For more information, contact Mitch Patton at: 1292 White Cloud Dr. SE, Salem, OR 97301, 503-884-3713, psmr@cpmcast.net. You may also contact Drew Parrish at 90000 Prairie Rd., Suite #26 Eugene, Oregon 97402, 541-689-9021, drew@playful.com.

GUILD OF OREGON WOODWORKERS 2004 SEMINAR SERIES

Please note that one of the dates has changed.**

The Guild is very happy to announce this year's bumper crop of woodworking education, designed to meet the needs of all levels of woodworkers. Please register for the classes you want by filling out the registration from below (see the form after the class list) and returning it to the seminar chair, Eric Snow, at a guild meeting or by US mail. You are registered only after the Guild has your check and form. Class space in most seminars is limited. Classes that do not have a minimum number of registered folks two weeks before the event may be subject to cancellation, so register early. Cost is $40 for members and $50 for non-members; registration on the day of a seminar is an additional $10.00. Questions about individual seminars can be addressed to presenters whose contact information is on the Guild's web site, or you may contact Eric Snow at snoman@ccwebster.net 503-542-7619.

FIELD TRIP: June 26th. The itinerary will include visits to three shops:

1. Lee Radtke's shop. Lee, a Guild past president and one of its founders, is a working professional and a great teacher. We'll plan on spending about two hours with Lee.
2. Lewis Judy of Northwest Timbers, a sponsor and a Guild founding father, will show us his shop, kilns and the most beautiful wood on the planet. He specializes in curly and quilted western maple, Oregon walnut in all figures, bird's eye and quilted hard maples, some fantastic Oregon myrtle, and some beautiful burls. Bring lots of money and a picnic lunch (bring your own).
3. Bill Bolstad, currently a Guild member and a founding father of the Guild, has made his living (for 25 years) designing and making beautiful boxes that he sells all over the world. He is a great supplier for The Real Mother Goose and will show us some of his box building techniques. You won't want to miss this trip. More information will be available in the next three newsletters.

JULY FIELD TRIP

We'll be visiting one of our sponsors, Goby Walnut in Albany, on July 10th. Dr. Gary Goby is one of the largest purveyors of walnut in the country. He will delight us with a very special tour of his facilities and show us some of his more than 250,000 board feet of walnut. Gary has every imaginable type of figured walnut, including some beautiful walnut veneers. He has one of our very own professionals Douglas Grant Vincent making veneered panels that will totally blow you away. (Hopefully, we can get Doug to accompany us on this trip as well.) There is no other place like this in the world, so come and enjoy. We'll also have a picnic lunch at Goby Walnut so bring your bag of goodies and a pocketbook of moolah.

THE GUILD LIBRARY

The Guild Library is open to all members and is continuing to grow. Please check out the Guild's website for a full listing of our collection and for information on how you can check out some of these resources.

MENTORS WANTED: The Guild has several members looking to expand their skills. Therefore, we are in need of additional mentors. Come share in a great opportunity for growth and fellowship among your Guild brothers and sisters. Your skill level is not so important as is your willingness to share what you know. All specialties are welcome! We can make the introduction for you and after that you and your student decide where and when to get together. This has been a very gratifying experience for past mentors and students and it's just waiting for you too! To take part, start by contacting your mentoring coordinator, Ariel Enriquez (email: arielyphyllis@msn.com, or leave a phone message at 503-286-4828).

Email Updates: We need your current email address. If and when you change addresses, please notify the Guild so we can keep our records up to date. Notify Joe Stoltzfus, who keeps track of the membership master list (joemarj@earthlink.net). Thanks!

Put pictures of your work on our website! Webmaster David Doughty is seeking photos from professional members for the website gallery. This is an easy way to showcase your work to the public at no cost to you! He will also publish a brief biography of the member and information on how to contact you. Check out the website to see how it works, then contact David and send him your material. This is yet another way the Guild serves its members.

Joining the Guild: If you wish to join the Guild or renew your membership, please contact Joe Stoltzfus at 503-763-0829, or joemarj@earthlink.net. And be sure to promote the Guild to your friends and associates who have an interest in woodworking. The Guild is a great resource!

EDITOR'S CORNER

When submitting information to the newsletter, please use the following guidelines: information should be complete; no fancy fonts or font colors and no tables or graphics, all of which take a tremendous amount of time to reformat. The information you submit should be what you want to see in print. The editor does only minor editing.

Reminder: DEADLINE FOR SUBMISSIONS TO THE NEWSLETTER is 5pm on the Wednesday following the Guild meetings. Classified ads run for only one issue. Contact me to renew your ad at fundingsolutionsnw@comcast.net, 503-371-8886, 1665 Diamond Peak Ct. NW, Salem, OR 97304.
